1993 JCI Hong Kong World Congress Theme

Mutual Understanding - Key to Global Unity

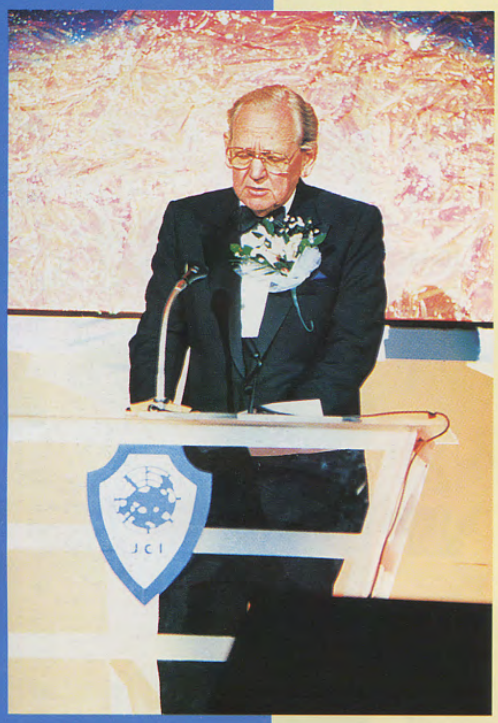

Our world is entering a new era as event in recent years have set the pace towards a global unity. However, the lack of understanding of other people's acts and viewpoints due to different cultures, historical backgrounds and social and economic systems is always an obstacle in our endeavour to attain the goal - prosperity, peace and ultimately, a global unity.

The congress theme therefore calls for deliberations focusing on the need to better understand each other and the efforts that people, especially the Jaycees, could make to enhance mutual understanding.

GREETINGS BY GUEST OF HONOUR THE CHIEF SECRETARY, THE HON SIR DAVID FORD, KBE, LVO, JP

Jaycees is an important driving force in promoting youth leadership training and fostering international goodwill. The Junior Chamber International has a distinguished record of furthering global unity.

Today, Hong Kong is the world's tenth largest trading economy; the second busiest container port and our stock market ranks second in Asia in terms of market capitalization.

Underpinning Hong Kong's success is the resilience, ingenuity and capacity for hardwork of its people. In this connection, young people are particularly important, for from amongst them will emerge our future leaders, opinion makers and workforce.

It is important not to overlook Hong Kong as a caring and serving community where people are motivated by a spirit of sharing and giving.... Throughout the past years, the Jaycees has organized many community projects to help the less-privileged in society, and encouraged young people to serve others and build a better community.

Looking ahead, we need a generation of young people who are outgoing and dynamic to lead us into the 21st century. Last but not the least, I wish you all a rewarding and enjoyable Congress and the Jaycee movement success in going from strength to strength in the years to come.

WELCOME SPEECH BY JCI WORLD PRESIDENT ROBBY DAWKINS

To everyone privileged to be here in one of the world's most exciting cities, this World Congress will offer countless ways to explore the opportunities offered by JCI in your "Global Passport" There are also endless options for involvement in JCI's Major Emphasis Theme, "The Age of Global Citizenship" and in its subthemes, Environment, Economic Development and the Future of Children.

This Congress is designed to help our members explore fresh options in our potential for future progress in business, for our children, for our communities, and for our world.

Together, we need to take the spirit we discover and share at this incomparable Hong Kong World Congress and let it be a continuing inspiration and guide for us every day through the year in all pursuits and endeavors.

Together, we can take this spirit home and share it with other, helping them to make "JCI...their Passport to the World"

WELCOME SPEECH BY NATIONAL PRESIDENT, HONG KONG JUNIOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE GEORGE LUNG

Welcome to the Hong Kong Congress!

When we put up the bid for the hosting right of this World Congress, we had two objectives in mind. One, we hoped to provide more opportunities for our members to further develop their leadership potential by being actively involved in organizing the Congress. Second, we aimed to promote a greater sense of loyalty among our members toward the organization as all come together to pursue a common goal.

I can assure all delegates that the Hong Kong Congress will be an unforgettable experience for all, and that everyone will have a pleasant stay in Hong Kong, enjoying the beautiful skyline of the city and the exciting activities in town.

FROM THE BEGINNING ..... TILL THE END

Soon after the Hong Kong Junior Chamber was awarded the hosting right of the 48th JCI World Congress, a Steering Committee comprising Past National Presidents, myself and other senior members of the Hong Kong Junior Chamber of Commerce mapped out a Plan of Action implement this grandeur project. The Congress Organizing Committee (COC) representing a combined force of devoted members from the hosting LOM, the Peninsula Jaycees and other LOMs was formed and carried out the plans of action immediately following the dissolution of the Congress Bidding Committee. The news of our successful bidding at the Helsinki Congress excited everybody at home and the COC was not alone in preparing for the big event.

While on the one hand the COC conducted recruitment exercise to ensure sufficient and appropriate manpower was available to take on the task, it has on the other hand worked out an itinerary for promotion trips to overseas NOMs. Courtesy calls to potential patrons and government officials were also made to sort out the arrangements for the Congress site, logistic facilities and financial contributions. In 1992 and 1993, my aide-de-camps and I have made more than 20 overseas trips to promote the Hong Kong Congress in Areas A, B, C and D. The COC met every month and more frequently at the latter part of 1993 to finalize financial, registration, function and logistic arrangements. Consultation with the Congress Steering Committee and JCI's Secretary General also constituted regular items in COC's hectic agenda.

At local level, the COC collaborated with NOM to host open forums to explain the program of the Hong Kong Congress and the allocation of resources to general members. Of course, these forums also served to solicit support from everyone in the National Organization to make the Congress a success. Response was overwhelming and those who had joined us found their involvement in the Congress to be exciting, inspiring and a valuable learning experience.

The implementation process turned out to be quite smooth although occasional hiccups had caused temporary interruptions to the work of the COC. Nevertheless, the COC remained in good form from the beginning till the end. The job was indeed very demanding but the COC managed it with pride and honour. The union of over 6,200 delegates from 80 countries at the Hong Kong Congress itself was a remarkable experience that the COC would treasure and take it as a reward in compensation for the pain of having to survive sleepless nights, to resolve differences in opinions, to control budget and etc. The COC is also thankful to our counterparts aroung the world for joining us in Hong Kong last November, and to those people who have helped in making the Hong Kong Congress a success.

OPENING CEREMONY

The opening ceremony of the 48th JCI World Congress fell on a fine day on November 21. Thousands of delegates, many of whom wearing bright uniforms or national costumes approached the gates of the site of the Opening Ceremony, i.e. the Hong Kong Coliseum, with flying colors. While the crowd was anxiously outside the Coliseum, members of the Organizing Committee responsible for coordinating the opening gala were taking the last call to ensure everything was in order for the grand opening. They were equally excited as their counterparts on the other side of the doors. Alas, the green light was on and the doors were opened!

Once inside the Coliseum, the delegates took their seats swiftly getting ready for the big moment to come. Many took the opportunity to study the architecture of the venue whereas some greeted their overseas counterparts. If we were to face the audience, on stage, we would be fascinated by the sight of a colorful assembly of beautiful people from various nations. They were all in a cheerful and exciting mood ready for the curtain to rise. While most delgates were deprived of the opportunity to take the stage to experience the spectacular view, they could certainly stretch their imagination to picture an even more exciting scenario.

At the Opening Ceremony, the World President Robby Dawkins took the limelight when he came on stage in a Chines rickshaw. The Guest of Honor, Sir David Ford, the Chief Secretary of the Hong Kong Government was also under the spotlight when he delivered his message to the delegates. When the Chief Delegates representing over 80 NOMs, JCI Officers and Past JCI Presidents moved on stage, their supporters cheered and rose to show their respect. Anyone who attended the Opening Ceremony of a JCI World Congress for the first time would be touched by the strong union among the delegates and the spirit of Jayceeism.

Immediately followed the formalities was an entertainment program specially choreographed to suit the occasion and to portray the essence of mixed culture in Hong Kong. It ended with a song "Heal the World" suggesting that global unity prevails when all mankind are living under one roof putting aside their cultural, social and political differences. The program overran, yet nobody wished to leave at a time when the spirit of Jayceeism was at its peak! Nevertheless, programs that followed the Opening Ceremony demanded the curtain to be drawn and everyone had to leave taking a lasting memory with them.

OPENING CEREMONY

PREMIERE TRAINING PROGRAMS

The JCI Hong Kong World Congress offered delegates an outstanding international training program with such popular trainers as Allan Pease from Australia, whose presentations on Body Language attracted large audiences wherever he spoke; Bob Pike, a dynamic speaker from the United States, on topics such as Leadershhip, Motivation and Attitudes, Creative Training Techniques, Marketing and Promotions; and Bjorn Ringom from Norway, a leader in Mind-Mapping, a creative way to take notes incorporating right- and left-brain thinking.

PRIME AND EXCEL

Chunkles and laughters were heard from time to time in the seminar rooms of the Hilltop Country Club, where over 60 Jaycees actively participated in the intensive Prime and Excel courses. For the first time, the courses were held before the official Congress progarams commenced, and also, Prime in Chinese and Japanese were introduced to Area B members; while Excel, for Prime graduates, was offered in English and French. The inspiring presentations delivered by the coaches rendered the classes even more exciting to sit through. At the end of the day, the trainees felt exhausted but reasured the learning process aiming to turn them into professionals.

FIRST IMPRESSION COUNTS

"Truly professionals" was the first impression Chris Hayward, the presenter, and John Bint, the author of this well organized training seminar given to the audience. Together, they created a rather relaxing atmosphere to enhance this unique learning experience.

Chris introduced right at the beginning of the seminar an ice breaking exercise which really warmed up the participants. According to him, in 90% of the cases we meet a person, a long lasting impression is usually formed in the first 4 minutes, Discussions are centred upon 4 issues namely: Why are first impression important? When are they important? What influences them? And what can we do about them?

To illustrate his point, Chris guided the 50 participants through a journey of discussion wherby everyone fully appreciated the theme of this seminar First Impression Counts.

STILL MORE GAMES TO PLAY

Approximately 90 delegates had attended this interactive training seminar conducted by Bob Pibe.

Despite the huge size of the group, Bob started off the seminar with an interseting game whereby all participants have to stand to a wall and then found four other participants standing on other walls to form a team. As the name of the training session implied, a wide variety of games were played among 16 groups, which included "Alphabet Search" on team building and planning; "Difference and Commonalties" on ice-breaking and getting team members acquainted. Every participant was given a tag for their wholehearted participation. Motion, fun and laughter filled the room for the entire three hours. Everyone was so involved in the activities they could go without any break. Bob emphasized that all the games played should at least carry one learning point to make it worthwhile.

CHANGES - THE POSITIVE THINKING PROGRAM

"Change is a necessity for progress and change can only take place if one involves in it mentally" This was a statement made by Bjorn Ringom, the speaker of the seminar which drew a capacity crowd of over 400.

Bjorn also explained the basic ingredients of achieving success, namely one must assume responsibility of oneself, has an open mind, be courageous to achieve challenge and able to set one's goal. It was particularly important that a positive thinker must set goals in his life and practise Positive Mental Visualization (PMV) to dream of success in a way that is already achieved.

The overall atmosphere of the seminar was very relaxing. The speaker was able to arouse audience interest by casually including some interesting real life situations. The participants, who formed groups of 3, were very eager to share their success, failure, dreams, goals as well as their own strength and weakness. Everyone enjoyed this precious learning process and carried a smiling face when they walked out of the room.

NAFTA - TRADE OPPORTUNITY OR TRADE BARRIERS

To most business people in the world, NAFTA will not be an unfamiliar name. While the economic arena is ever evolving and changing, we are experiencing the emergence of different economic blocs be the Asian Pacific bloc, European bloc or the North American bloc. In the business session moderated by the Carlsmith Ball legal firm of the USA, more lights are shed onto the pros and cons of the NAFTA reached among USA, Canada and Mexico, and as a result who are the winners and losers. Delegates attended the session were very concerned about the direct impact that NAFTA would bring onto their business plans and establishments.

The speaker struck a positive note on the Agreement suggesting that one should look at NAFTA as bringing more jobs and trade opportunities to the world. It is projected that by the year 2000, with the backing of NAFTA, Mexico can almost catch up with the economy of Canada and other developed countries. In its needs of infrastructure commodities and the basic necessities such as clothing, Asian investors can also consider Mexico an attractive opportunity for trade.

WORLD CONSORTIUM FOR RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT OF TRADING

The world Consortum for Research and Development of Training (WCRDT) met in Hong Kong to deliberate its vision statement "to conduct research and development in order to offer all global citizens effective adult learning opportunities for life, by providing access to the appropriate systems and resources in all learning situations."

A panel of 5 prominent training experts shared with over 95 participants from 40 countries the new trends and technology in research and development of trainig such as using education and training to unsettle minds, etc. The simulation lectures were supplemented with demonstrations, games and videos featuring the latest development of training of the Republic of China Jaycees followed by an interview with the representative of the Education Department of the United States. There was active participation and sharing of experience amongst the participants. At the close of the day, the meeting resolved to put forward a number of recommendations including the continuation of the WCRDT to be held in future conferences and congresses because it is proven to be beneficial and workable.

BODY LANGUAGE - KEY TO ATTRACT ATTENTION

As explained by the trainer Allan Pease who has the reputation of being among the most outstanding trainers in the JC circle, non-verbal language creates a much higher impact than verbal language. More human communication took place by the use of gestures, postures, position and distances than by any othe methods. As Allan delivered his presentation, there were never short of laughter in the concert hall where approximately 400 Jaycees actively participated in this popular seminar.

JAPANESE STYLE ENVIRONMENTAL EDUCATION

After spending 40 years of effort in developing educational programs for children, Japan Jaycees found the principle of "Awareness Understanding Action" effective in cultivating concern and awareness of preserving the environment among children. The cycle of "Awareness Understanding Action" environmental education program emphasizes educating our sensitivity through a series of interactive indoor and outdoor games.

Many of the games conducted during the seminar were original and inspirational for not only children but adults as well when the participants engaged in these games during the seminar. To name a few, "Guess the Animal's Name", "Field Bingo" and Earth-the Spaceship" Delegates found the "Circle Game" to be the most challenging as they were trying to untangle from each other without breaking up the link.

EXPERIENCE OF TAIWAN INVESTMENT IN MAINLAND CHINA

Mainland China with its 1.1 billion population, abundance of land, natural resources and workforce offers immense opportunities for trade and investment. Since the establishment of open policy in 1979, China attracted thousands of foreign investors in various industries. Many of these foreign investors were satisfied with returns received. Meanwhile, some investors returned home without gaining anything or even incur a loss.

In the seminar, three ROC Jaycees shared their valuable experience with the participants. As mentioned by one of the seminar speakers, to penetrate into PRC market you need to practise 8 Ps marketing skills. In addition to the well-known 4 Ps (Price, Products, Promotion and Place), you should be familiar with the Chinese 4 Ps - Power, People, Politics and Public Relations.

There is no single rule to succeed in business, but learning experience from others will definitely benefit potential investor. Before you head for the China market, perhaps you should find out more about business practices and how the 8 Ps work in that market.

JCI AFFAIRS

Inside the lobby of the Cultural Centre, colorful posters depicting the different postures of the candiates for 1994 JCI offices were everywhere to find. All the candidates looked pleasant and charismatic giving an impression that they were all pros ready to take on greater challenge. Their presentations, regardless the languages they used were impressive. As they were equally outstanding, it was indeed difficult to predict the winners.

The 1994 JCI President Caucus took place on November 23. More than 500 participants attended the event and were very much impressed by the presentation of the candidates: Arnaud Godere from Mauritius in Area A and Sunil Kumar from India in Area B.

More than 20 questions were raised from the floor and the candidates drew applause from the audience in their response to the following questions:

Q: What are your weaknesses and strengths?

A: (candidate Sunil) My weakness is that I have ranked JC as the top prioprity in my life and to certain extent, I have neglected my family and business commitments.

Q: If you are to be elected, how would you motivate Jaycees in Area A to contribute to Jaycee movement?

A: (candidate Arnaud) The best way is to elect a World President from Area A!

At the General Assembly held on November 25, thousands of Jaycees gathered and waited anxiously for the results of the election. The Grand Theatre was full of applause and hurrahs when the votes were being announced. This year, an open counting procedure in front of all delegates was incorporated which added a new dimension to the elections.

Senators Dinner

To be awarded Senatorship was dreams of many Jaycees who have devoted much of their time and striving in their Jaycee endeavor. It was extremely delighted for the baby senators when they were invited on stage and congratulated by other veteran senators from all over the world.

The three most senior Jaycees on site were invited by WP Robby to recognize their presence. They have more than 40 years of Jaycee age and every one admired their glorious achievements.

CONGRESS ARTIVITIES HIGHLIGHTS

Welcome Party

Amid the early X'mas lighting and the cool breeze at the waterfront, a Welcome Party characterized by festivities was held at the Centenary Garden, Tsimshatsui East. The capacity crowd was cordially greeted by the Guest of Honor, Dr. Ronald Leung, Chairman of the Urban council and JCI President Robby Dawkins.

The party offered a sumptuous menu of delicious Chinese dim sum and vegetarian food; and melodious folk music. The evening's program reached its climax when the Drum Dance was on, winning the hearts of all delegates. Some delegates were so carried away that they even danced to the beat of the drum. The Mongolian Folk Dance later took the stage and again won a big round of applause from the floor.

Presidential Reception

Have you ever visited a traditional Chinese village of the 18th century, and tasted some authentic Chinese cuisine served by waiters wearing traditional Chinese costumes? The answer to the question was "yes" if you are a VIP or Chief Delegate. JCI President Robby hosted the Presidential Reception at the Sung Dynasty, a replica of an ancient Chinese village, on November 20 right after the Opening Ceremony.

All the guests enjoyed a brief tour to the complex followed by a relaxed dinner buffet in the nostalgic setting of the Chinese village surrounded by Chinese temples and ancient architecture. Our World President Robby presented souvenirs to all Chief Delegates and the fun part of the evening came when WP played the role of a Chinese bridegroom to kick open the "Bride's Chamber" on the day of their wedding. The bride, in this case, is none other than the beautiful Sonya Wiley — fiance of WP!

Home Hospitality

Over 700 overseas delegates participated at the Home Hospitality program offered by hosting families in the Island, Shatin, Sai Kung and Tuen Mun areas.

Despite the scarcity of space in the regular household of Hong Kong, the hospitality and warmth of the hosting families compensated for the limitation. Most delegates have the opportunity to enjoy a regular home-made Chinese meal, exchange souvenirs with the hosting families and learn about each other's culture. Some hosting families entertained their guests with "Karaoke"

The more fortunate were those who went to Tuen Mun in the New Territories and tasted the authentic "Village specialty" — Chinese Lasagna, a traditional dish with a wide variety of meat, vegetables being arranged in layers in a big wooden/copper basin. A courageous delegate even tried the "Snake Wine" for good health!

Delegates Luncheon

Five lunches have been served to delegates in different locations and in assorted menu, i.e. dim sum food at Chinese Restaurant, buffet in the Piazza of Cultural Centre and the Kowloon Park. We even bring the delegates on cruise around the Victoria Harbor. Delegates were feel free to enjoy the panorama of Hong Kong while having their lunches in the relaxed atmosphere.

Foundation Reception

Foundation Reception was a formal occasion to recognize Jaycees who have so generously donated money for the development of our organization. Their unselfishness and devotion towards Jaycee movement are indeed exemplary.

Twinning Ceremony

Signing of twinning pact signified closer relationships between two LOMs of different boundaries. Sure they look forward to more joint ventures between the two countries.

UNICEF Concert

On November 26, the Chinese Philharmonic Orchestra performed a two-hour concert at the Cultural Centre. Some 800 seats in the Grand Theatre were reserved for Congress delegates. Concert tickets were sold for a minimum donation of US$25.00, with all proceeds assisting UNICEF to help the plight of children worldwide.

Volleyball Tournament and Swimming Competition

Junior Chamber members were dressed in sports attire for the 5th JCI Volleyball Tournament and first-ever swimming competition at a world congress. Teams with a minimum of six people were competed for the volleyball tournament and the Finns were again inconquered to win the title home.

In addition to the traditional Volleyball tournament, the first Congress Swimming Competition was held for members to show their speed and style!

Presidential Gala

The finale of the Congress was the Presidential Gala held on November 27 at the Ocean City Restaruant. Delegates flocked to the venue after the sentimental Award Ceremony and Presidential Inauguration. Despite the event had been delayed for 1-1/2 hours, delegates grasped the break to eat, drink, chat and dance among each other. The night was so short that all hope it would never end so that they could dance all night long.

JCI took this occasion to present appreciative plaques to Congress Director, the Deputy Congress Directors and Advisers; thanking them for the dedicated works contributed. Then it comes to the moment that every one had to bid farewell and send kisses to the new and old acquaintances.

In 1993, JCI President Robby always highlights his motto of "JCI — your Passport to the World" Indeed, the world is a small place and it is wonderful that Jaycees from all over the globe can associate together for promoting friendship and own mission. All shall wait for another year to meet in Kobe again!

More than 2,000 delegates attending the national party co-hosted by the USA and French Jaycees had a great time at the Kowloon Park in the heart of the Tsimshatsui area. American and French delicacies, light music, French champagne, Jack Daniel Tennessee whisky were served while delegates mingled. Although temperature has been dropped, none of the delegates, including those from Hawaii who put on their shorts, feet the chill as they wined and danced through the night.

The American host took the opportunity to promote their bid put up by the Hawaiian Jaycees to host the 1997 JCI World Congress. Their French counterparts also proposed toast to everyone present at the garden party. Indeed, the party was a blockbuster and one to be remembered!

November 22 — USA and French Night

November 23—Japan Night

After surviving a hectic day sitting through the general assemblies, seminars and perhaps shopping, the delegates flocked to the national parties hosted by the Japan and European Junior Chambers at the Kowloon Park and Holiday Inn Golden Mile respectively.

Lavish and fun-filled were the words best described the Japan Night where traditional Japanese food and drinks, exciting games, an undepletable stock of prizes and souvenir were offered to guarantee an enjoyable evening. Japan Night always creates laughter and affection and is considered the bull's eye leisure activity of any Congress and Conference.

European Night

The European Night had also attracted a long queue outside the Holiday Inn Golden Mile and some delegates had to line up for almost half an hour in order to get into this popular party. The venue was packed with sensual human bodies, fun and laughter, music, food and a whole spectrum of European booze, wines and spirits.

November 24—Korea Night

The inherited dance, songs and games had constituted the uniqueness of the Korea Night party. Jaycees found themselves busy and excited as they played along the activities. Some required you to be a perfect basketball shooter and others are just for fun. One special assignment that the Korea opening to other delegates is they are the host of the 1995 ASPAC Conference in Cheju and the 1996 World Congress in Pusan. Definitely the coming two years would be very busy for the Korea Jaycees.

November 25 — Hong Kong Night

The unexpected rainfall in the afternoon of November 25 had migrated the Hong Kong Night from an outdoor activity to be held in the main lobby of the Cultural Centre. Yet the delegates enjoyed the same environment as they were thrilled by the unique east blend west prerformance of the night. The lion and dragon dance first opened the show to win the heart of the delegates, then the delegates flocked to enjoy the customary game booths hosted by local chapters of Hong Kong Jaycees. For those who prefer to taste the "Tai Pai Dong" (food stall,) style food in the first instance, they would rather queue with the big crowd to satisfy their hunger. All the rest then jumped to the floor and danced till the night ended.

From the Editor...

Alas, we have been able to produce a report of the 1993 JCI Hong Kong World Congress. This publication served as token of memories for those who have been able to involve as crew members; those who only sat in the bench as spectators; and those who could not make themselves availbale for the event.

The success of the Hong Kong Congress shared by everyone who had contributed untold hours and efforts. It is by linking brains and resources of the old and young members that we could carry out such a mega project. Each and every one of them should receive credits. For example, the compilation of the Congress News was under the cooperative attempt of the entire Editorial Committee; and the Opening Ceremony could never open its curtain by only 2 to 3 O/C members.

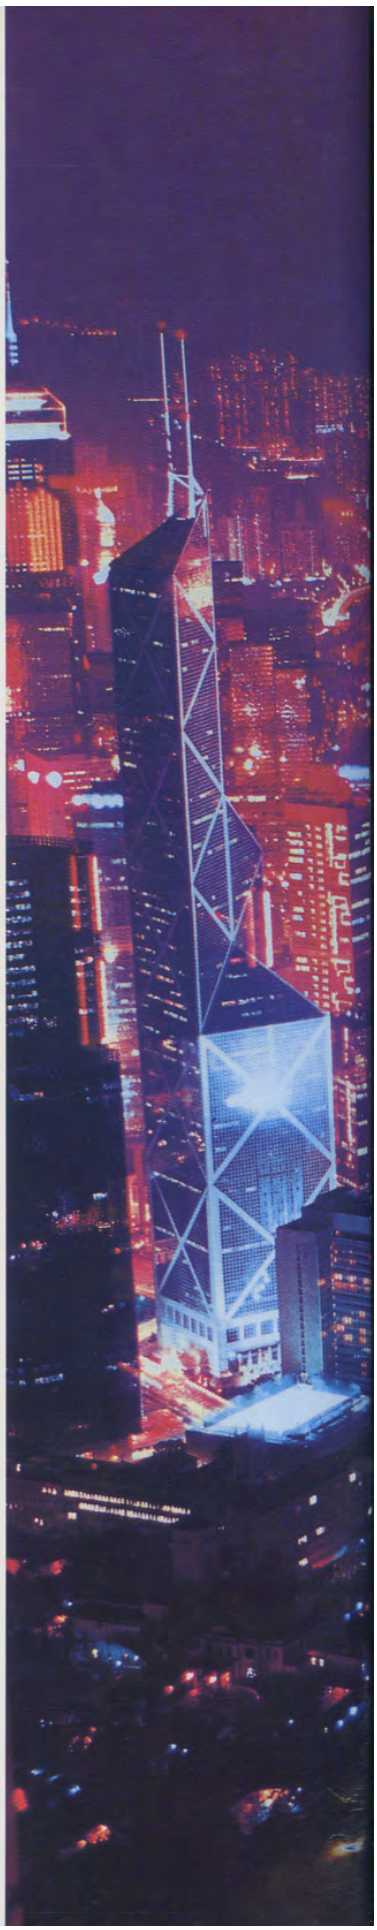

Jaycee is a people's organization. We accept and discharge responsiblities through working with a group of familiar or unfamiliar members. Each had their own style of doing things. Some performers are PR-oriented; and some prefer to work hard behind the spot. The experienced membes may act brighter while the green members may lose direction without proper guidance. "Caring" and "Sharing" are essential during the process of planning and implementation and they are the essences of accomplishing a masterpiece to recall in the rest of our lives.

Special thanks to Jaycee Valerie Cheung for lending hands in the course of this production. We have extracted some articles from the Congress News and would like to thank the respective writers.

The completion of the Hong Kong Congress seems to be a relief to many of the O/C members. Meanwhile, many of us are still fragrant with the World Congress aroma. We miss the hustle pace that gets accustomed for almost 2 years, although many a time we very much like to break away for a retreat. The opportunity of being an O/C member may be only once in a life time. Yes indeed, nobody can tell when Hong Kong will host the next World Congress again!

Take good care and rejoice!
