ACTION PLAN FOR THE MOTTAINAI MOVEMENT 1995 "JUNIOR GLOBAL CITIZENS DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM"

By Japan Junior Chamber, Inc.

Background

In line with various programs and activities under JCI's MET, "The Age of Global Citizenship," during the past few years, Japan Junior Chamber, Inc., developed the Mottainai Movement in 1993.

At the Hong Kong World Congress in November 1993, the Mottainai Movement was approved as a JCI-endorsed program and spread throughout the world as the Global Mottainai Movement.

In developing this movement, it is important to realize the Global Mottainai Movement is not only something for environmental issues but can also be linked to the other subthemes of MET, "The Future of Children" and "Economic Development."

The Concept of the "Junior Global Citizens" Development Program

Since we are global citizens, it makes sense to say children are "junior global citizens." Not only is it important for us to strive to solve the problems facing our planet, it is also essential for us to raise the consciousness of our children as junior global citizens; they will be the ones responsible for the world of the future.

Children are truly a treasure; they represent unlimited potential. If we can ensure that children develop this potential, then we are indeed practicing mottainai.

We should take action so they will utilize and develop their abilities. We should ensure that children will inherit a world that is safe and pleasant and lives that are free from want. For "The Future of Children" is also the future of the earth.

Benefits for JCI:

- MET Boost—an effective promotion of JCI's MET, "The Age of Global Citizenship," and especially the subtheme "Future of Children."
- Promotion—further exposure of the JCI-endorsed program the "Global Mottainai Movement," as each NOM expands its participation.
- Participation—NOMs and LOMs can easily take part, and their existing programs of a similar theme can be included, thus increasing member participation.
- Incentive—interest in the program will be increased by an award ceremony for contest winners at the Glasgow World Congress.
- Sales—produce JCI goods or promotional materials for JCI using the contest photos.

Request to JCI for Cooperation in this Program:

- Continuation of the Mottainai Movement and distribution of the JCI "Mottainai News"
- Cooperation with "The Future of Children" Photo Contest:
  - Mailing entry forms to each NOM
  - Encouraging entries
  - Assisting in judging at the World Congress (JCI President to be a member of the Judging Committee)

Term:

One year (January—December 1995)

Eligibility:

All members of JCI's 94 NOMs may enter the contest and participate in the program as a whole.

MOTTAINAI

MOTTAINAI MOVEMENT 1995 "JUNIOR GLOBAL CITIZENS DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM"

Background:

- Japan Junior Chamber, Inc., has been conducting various programs and activities under JCI's MET, "The Age of Global Citizenship," during the past few years.

- In 1993 we developed the Mottainai Movement, which was connected to the Earth Our Home Movement in Japan. And at the Hong Kong World Congress in November 1993, the Mottainai Movement was approved as a JCI-endorsed program; it spread throughout the world as the Global Mottainai Movement.

- In 1994 Japan Junior Chamber, Inc., became involved in the Global Mottainai Movement. As a result, the word mottainai has been understood in all the NOMs throughout the world.

- In developing this movement, it is important to realize the Global Mottainai Movement is not only for environmental issues but can also be linked to the other subthemes of MET, "The Future of Children" and "Economic Development."

The Concept of the "Junior Global Citizens" Development Program

Since we are global citizens, it makes sense to say children are "junior global citizens." Today one of the biggest crises facing our planet is the destruction of the environment. It is not only important for us as global citizens to face this challenge and solve today's problems, it is also essential for us to raise the consciousness of our children as junior global citizens, since they will be responsible for the world in 10 to 20 years.

Children are invaluable, a true treasure. They represent unlimited potential and possibilities. If we ensure that children develop such potential, we have practiced one of the highest forms of mottainai.

We should take action so they can utilize and develop their abilities. We should make certain that children inherit a safe and pleasant world and lives that are free from want. Their future is, in every way, the future of the world.

"The Future of Children" Photo Contest

It is time we think about this subtheme of JCI's MET, "The Age of Global Citizenship," and take practical action toward this goal. The best way to understand and promote this concept all over the world is to participate. But you might ask, "What can I do?"

First, you can plan a project for developing Junior Global Citizens or find a project already being conducted which fits with this theme and take part in it. Then, take photographs of young people participating in the project, and send them to your NOM secretariat. We will collect the photos from around the world and hold a photo contest at the JCI Glasgow World Congress, where the spirit of camaraderie as Global Citizens will be felt by all.
